✧ Job Shadow Programme 2012-13

- The Job Shadow Programme co-organized by the Careers Committee of King's College and the King's College Old Boys' Association had been successfully held. Sixty-two S.5 students were given eighty-one opportunities to shadow fourteen of our alumni and their related parties from half day to 2 days during Christmas, Lunar New Year and Easter holidays. Not only did they get to observe the day-to-day activities of their hosts in the current workforce, they also obtained a chance to learn from their sharing. We would like to thank KCOBA and all renowned alumni for their generous support. This programme would not have been a success without their enthusiastic support.

✧ Our Fig Tree is Aging

- Knowing that the Fig Tree is aging and witnessing a large cavity at the bottom of the tree trunk, we already took action to assess its health condition five years ago. According to the Tree Assessment Report made by the Conservancy Association (2009), the structural defects, apart from the large cavity, including pruning wounds with signs of decay and concrete-covered wounds and co-dominant trunks are liable to the risk of splitting apart. Since then, we have made every effort, to protect it from further deterioration. We have installed a synthetic cable between the two co-dominant trunks, ceased to plant grass within the root zone to prevent physical damage caused during greening, refilling soil and adding fertilizers periodically. We also made two more tree assessments in 2010 and 2012 respectively. The latest tree assessment was made in 17 April 2013.
- Recently, the major cavity has become larger and three other cavities are also found. There are also signs of fungal attack which results in wood decay. Despite all these, we still believe that the tree is still structurally sound. We will continue to monitor its health condition through the upcoming assessments and keep you informed of the latest progress.
- As the Scripture says, "To everything there is a season". Every Kingsian matures and so does our Fig Tree. Its growth is affected by the natural cycle and the environment. We will take proper care of it and minimize any threats it might impose, so that we can live together in harmony with our beloved "Fig Tree".
